

BECOME A CITIZEN SCIENTIST TODAY!

Join the Citizens and Remote Sensing Observational Network

1ST NETWORK MEETING:

Date: May 19, 2009

Time: 7:00pm

Location: Maryland Science Center

Monthly meetings are held at the Maryland Science Center on the third Tuesday evening of each month at 7pm.

Why be involved in CARSON?

- Make observations and relate them to NASA data to help scientists monitor our planet.
- The CARSON guide is easy to use and describes step by step methods to collect, monitor, and analyze data.
- Choose your own level of participation.
- Belong to a greater community of dedicated citizen scientists, government programs, academic researchers, and not-for-profit organizations who are focused on environmental issues.

For more information, please visit
<http://www.marylandsciencecenter.org/exhibits/Carson.html>
or email Carson@marylandsciencecenter.org.